The Artist

Ishu Tiwari is a Delhi-based makeup artist trained at UK International London Beauty School. For her, makeup is a form of self-expression — a way to turn every face into a canvas and every look into a small story.

From soft, everyday glam to bold editorial colour and glamorous party looks, Ishu enjoys experimenting with texture, light and detail to create makeup that feels personal to whoever is wearing it. Every client, shoot and collaboration is approached with the same curiosity and care that drew her to this craft in the first place.
